

How we get married: Spatiotemporal analysis of happiness

Nur Mustafaoglu and Onur Varol*

Love is the strongest bond between two individuals. This bond strengthens day by day no matter what kind of struggle life come up with. In this relationship, we established such a strong bond and sealed it with marriage. Timespan of this relation covers 7 years including friendship and engagement. In geographic dimension, we lived in two different continent and endeavor to settle down together. Here we provide our point of view to describe relationships and leading path to happiness.

* Spouses contributed equally